

July 2015

Dear Colleague,

University of Cambridge, International Summer Programmes 2016

Please find enclosed publicity materials to promote the 2016 University of Cambridge International Summer Programmes. We offer specialist programmes in Ancient and Classical Worlds, Creative Writing, English Legal Methods, History, Literature, Medieval Studies, Science and Shakespeare, along with an Interdisciplinary programme covering a wide range of subjects. All are taught by leading Cambridge scholars and guest subject specialists.

The International Summer Programmes attract adults of all ages from around 60 different countries. Over 50% of participants are current undergraduate or graduate students, and 45% of all participants are aged 30+.

We would be most grateful if you could display these materials in a prominent place to inform people about the programmes we offer in Cambridge each summer.

Our brochure giving full details of the programmes, including dates, accommodation options and fees will be sent to you in December. Further information and details of how to apply online will also be available on our website:

www.ice.cam.ac.uk/intsummer.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any queries: intenq@ice.cam.ac.uk.

Yours faithfully,

Sarah Ormrod
